

WASHINGTONVILLE
LOCAL GLEANINGS

By Peter M. Herold.

Hark! hark! the dogs do bark,
The children are coming to town;
Some in rags and some in "jags"
And few in velvet gown.

Saturday was a "boozy" day.
How long can it be stood?
Does the end justify the means?
J. C. Weikert is serving on the petit jury at Lisbon.

There are indications of another salmon landing here soon.
Seven young men will ride the Foresters' goat Friday night.

There promises to be an abundance of flowers for Decoration day.

John Hermann of Leota spent a few days here with his mother.

John Gilbert is home from U. S. court jury duty on a 10-day's vacation.

Geo. Charlton of Poland spent Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thos. Grindle.

An old clerk has been placed in the rear of the Co-op store. Buy a gallon and see it work.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Orr and daughter of Columbiana visited Saturday at the home of J. N. Paisley.

Children's Day will be observed at the Lutheran church June 13. The offering will be for orphanages.

Four young Italians from Salem passed through here on bicycles Saturday afternoon and returned next day.

Wm. A. Davis, wife and daughters from near North Lima were here Sunday calling on former neighbors.

Johnny Masco, the four-year-old Italian boy reported last week as having typhoid fever, died Sunday afternoon.

A large number of concrete burial vaults have been brought here at various times during the past month.

Jas. W. Simpson on Monday had a few pieces of bone taken out of his thumb which had been giving him trouble for 25 years.

Mrs. Louis Boston and daughter Maude of Youngstown called on relatives and former neighbors here Sunday afternoon.

Cole Bros. circus in Salem last Friday drew a good crowd from here, and our saloons had a good sized patronage from the showmen.

Joe Smith was in town Saturday for the first time since he had his shoulder dislocated when alighting from an electric car three weeks ago.

There was another fight and a fall into the ditch at Stop 11 Saturday night. Ladies alighting from the cars were disgusted and terrorized.

Remember the Lutheran festival here Saturday evening—upon the church lawn if favorable weather, and if not it will be held in Mrs. Hermann's hall.

The school of the Lutheran district to this village last week; May 2 at the home of Samuel Vaughn and wife; May 7, at the home at Ralph Brin and wife.

The second test well drilled in by the Boro Oil Co. on the Pailock farm north of West Point proved a duster. The casing has been drawn out and hauled to another location.

Wm. Richards, aged about 18, employed in the American Case and Register plant at Salem, was accidentally shot in the arm when he danced in Alliance one night last week.

Rev. D. L. Clark's son from Alliance preached two sermons Sunday night—one to the ladies and one to the men. The audience being small he suggested preaching on the next corner, a dance in Alliance one night last week.

Walter Smith got a severe bat on the lower lip Monday when helping to move the gasoline engine out of the Everage coal mine. The lip remains a very prominent feature of the countenance.

The receiver of the First National bank of Leota has declared another dividend of 15 per cent, making 65 per cent thus far, and a promise of still another small dividend when outstanding claims shall have been collected.

Frederick Douglas, the colored orator, once said: "We can trust all the knowledge of the community to take care of all its ignorance, and all the virtue of the community to take care of all its vice." But Mr. Douglas did not imagine a contingency like that which now surrounds Washingtonville, with all the ignorance, all the vice, and all the criminality of other communities dumped upon an almost defenseless village.

It is rumored about town that I. N. Russell has been looking over the works of the Ohio Coal and Clay Co., a mine known as Fairview mine, with a view of buying it for the Columbia clay people. "New!" is in the habit of enlisting Cleveland capitalists in this direction and has always made good by the enterprises. J. N. Paisley will give a view and be a neighbor to the Delmore mine. And it is further rumored that Sousa Degnan will buy the old Ballantine hotel property in the event that Mahoning county should be voted "wet."

These are mere rumors and depend upon conjecture.

Mother's Day was fittingly observed in the Lutheran church Sunday forenoon. White carnations decorated the pulpit and were worn by many in the congregation. Cox's greenhouse furnished many of the national flowers for this occasion. After the choir had sung "Tell Mother I'll Be There," Rev. East preached a carefully prepared discourse from Judges 7: 7: "Deborah arose a Mother in Israel." All the notable mothers of the old and new testament were given as goodly examples, while profane history was frequently cited for influential personages. The three great words in all languages are Mother, Home and Heaven. "Honor thy Father and thy Mother" is the first great commandment with promise, and the oldest nation now on earth is where ancestral worship is practiced. We may have a diversity of views concerning religion and the church, but all nations and peoples agree as to the homage due to a good Mother, to her home and to her God. "Home, Sweet Home" is the conclusion. "My Mother was my first and most unselfish friend. When I was a wayward boy and causing her mental anguish, she lured me into the right path by kind words and mistletoe eyes; when I was sick or in trouble she remained at my bedside or directed me out of my difficulties; and as I stood at her open grave I did not lament her departure from her decade of afflictions so much as my total unworthiness of such a home affection during my entire lifetime. Yet I cannot refrain from calling the world to witness this feeble tribute to her blessed memory. Mother's Day will live through time and in eternity."

Less Drunkennes.

In commenting on the report of some Rose law violations in a recent issue of The Republican, a "liquor" paper in a neighboring town takes occasion to say that there are more drunks than ever before in dry towns. That may be so but we have not seen or heard of them in this town. The editor of the "liquor" paper mentioned tells us that we are all the time showing up the police court records of wet towns and discriminating against dry ones. Let us see. In this town from January 1, 1909 to April 15, 1910, the total number of arrests for intoxication was 26, less than half of which were intoxication cases. For the same period of 1908 the total number of arrests was 60, almost all of which were intoxication cases. Those are the figures.

We know there is much liquor consumed by Ravensburg people at the present time. We doubt if it is so very much less than it was before the county went dry. But we do know that there are fewer arrests for drunkenness and less recidivism, staggering on the streets.

Hats Off!

Hats off to Rev. J. Elwood Lynn of the Central Christian church, says the Warren Tribune.

That's because Rev. Lynn has solved the hat question, or is in a fair way to solve it.

One of the great movements of the age is looking to the removing of women's hats in church. Yet there are some who hesitate to remove their wigs, for various reasons, no doubt, best known to themselves.

But Rev. Lynn is a diplomat and he has provided for just such conditions.

Sunday he announced that a section of seats on the north side of the auditorium would be reserved hereafter especially and exclusively for women who will not remove their hats.

Hereafter ushers will meet the ladies at the door, inquire if it is their intention to uncover. If not, they will be seated in the hat section.

Good work.

J. W. Johnston has just received a car load of buggies and harnesses.

Gerantums, 4-inch pots, 10 cents each. Sharkey, the florist, Austintown.

HERE'S YOUR HOT BUDGET

Down with the shackles!

A. W. Deibel is in favor of an official cat catcher.

Mercer county jurors know evidence when they see it.

The moth-bait market is still very sluggish and irregular.

Was Tom Jacobs' mayoralty boomlet hurt by the late frosts?

The school board can resign without causing an injunction suit.

Lamer's judicial boom will strike its zenith about green corn time.

Hoy's Canfield going to vote in the coming contest, moist or arid?

The wets are on the aggressive now. Soon the gory battle will begin.

It is rumored the apple crop is ruined and there is gloom in the cider belt.

Since silence has ceased to be golden Jimmy Boyle has commenced to talk.

A bond issue is a splendid method of shifting taxes onto the next generation.

From the ex-judicial opinion expressed by Judge Robinson it is inferred that he is not a wet.

At present the indications are that the political plum crop in this city will be normal.

If elected police judge Hon. R. C. Hoy won't wear a wig. He has hair of his own.

The municipal campaign ought to open with a torchlight procession of majority candidates.

The headwaters to voracious furnaces are now assuming their summer jobs of tonorial law articles.

Our Jim could get the solid rural vote of this county by the cost of a ratification meeting here.

When the city budget gets out of the hands of the sinking fund committee it will be a woe to the woe.

Hok combs remained single and stuck to plumbing he might be a respected millionaire today.

Had Jimmy Boyle been wealthy he would probably still be fighting his case on the ground of emotional insanity.

At last our Jim has brought himself of the consumer in his district and free seeds are now being distributed.

Dr. J. A. Dickson is another physician the lawyers will handle with kid gloves when he is on the witness stand.

Hires has cut the prices out of flowers thus materially reducing the cost of funerals. What a godsend he is to the city!

We won't have an old home week this year, but visitors will be given the glad hand just the same, if they come here.

The only time the public has a chance to get in a good kick on high taxes is when it can vote "no" on a proposed bond issue.

The Boyles feel chagrined because they have been found guilty of kidnapping.

What did they expect? A banquet or grand ball in their honor?

The only way to keep foreign saloons closed on Sunday is to bolt the back doors and then confiscate all the monkey-wrenches in the neighborhood.

Our Jim could get the solid rural vote of his district if he would insert in the new tariff bill a heavy ad valorem duty on imported north-west Canadian weather.

Over in Pennsylvania when they do enforce the law, which they often do if the defendant is not to high up in politics, they do it with defiance, dispatch and decision.

The county treasurer announces that he is ready to receive donations from all public-spirited citizens who desire to contribute towards the expense of the county, city and state.

The selection of a new water works superintendent will probably be settled by the most expert knowledge of wire pulling whereas it should be decided by candor in piping down the water.

The neatness with which Dr. J. J. Thomas saws up victims of assault and battery indicates that he would have been a mighty good tailor had he not chosen the medical profession.

Shaking their fists under each other's noses while the crowd listens in breathless silence, you bet it is not the weather, war or politics they are discussing; it is the wet and dry question that is the subject of conversation.

Imis.

West Austintown.

MAY 12—Preaching by Rev. Meyers next Sunday evening.
